SIX PARTIES TO SEND MEMBERS TO JAPAN

With the aim of promoting friendship and understanding, the Japanese government has invited 20 young politicians from six leading political parties to visit Japan to further bilateral relations between the two countries. Union Solidarity and Development Party (USDP) General-Secretary U Htay Oo said 10 members of the USDP had been included along with two elected MPs each from the National Unity Party (NUP), National Democratic Force (NDF), Shan Nationalities Democratic Party, All Mon Regions Democracy Party (AMRDP) and Rakhine Nationalities Development Party (RNDP). U Htay Oo said the delegation will be led by a USDP member but the trip is being organised by the Japanese government.¹⁹

Ex-NDF LEADER APPLIES FOR PERMISSION TO FORM NEW POLITICAL PARTY

Pyithu Hluttaw (Lower House) MP Thein Nyunt, who was expelled from the National Democratic Front (NDF), has applied to the Union Election Commission (UEC) in Nay Pyi Taw to form a new political party to be called the “National Democracy New Party.” Thein Nyunt, who submitted the application on 4 July, is set to become the chairman of the party, while Lower House MP Kyi Myint of Latha would serve as Secretary and Upper House MP Phone Myint Aung would serve as Information Officer. Initially, the new party would have about 20 leaders including Thein Nyunt, Kyi Myint, Phone Myint Aung, Regional Hluttaw MP Kyaw and San San Myint and celebrity singer Ya Tha, said a party spokesperson. The NDF, a breakaway faction of the National League for Democracy, was founded by Thein Nyunt, Khin Maung Swe and Dr. Than Nyein to contest the 2010 elections. Later, Thein Nyunt was expelled from the NDF for allegedly disclosing controversial financial matters of the party to the media.²⁰

ANALYSIS

Having completed 100 days in office, the Burmese government has embarked upon reshuffling the 14 Region and State governments. The move surprised many and most see it as the central government’s attempt to maintain a firm control of the region and state governments. This may have been necessitated by the fact that there is no clear policy on the roles and relationships between the regional and central government on key issues, notably on budgetary and policy matters. While the international community continues to maintain a cautious approach in dealing with the new regime in Burma, the visits by the Japanese Parliamentary Vice-Minister for Foreign Affairs and the Australian Foreign Minister will have given the Burmese government a boost. Whereas the debate on pro- and anti-engagement continues, the domestic affairs of the country still remain unresolved. The on-going conflict between the Tatmadaw (Burma Army) and the Kachin Independence Army (KIA) and the military campaign on the Shan State Progress Party/Shan State Army (SSPP/SSA) will need to be addressed soon by the government. If left to the Tatmadaw alone, the crisis could become a catalyst in shaping a small-scale civil war. The ideal solution would be for an immediate cease-fire followed by talks that will work towards the inclusion of the ethnic forces as stakeholders in the next election in 2015.
